GORILLA SOCKS

Our story

Gorilla Socks was born in Naples in 2017 with the aim of combining new trends in terms of design with the ever increasing attention to the environment and the sustainability of materials. The idea is to transform a garment of common and daily use, such as socks, into something that is not only trendy but that uses new natural fibers that respect the environment.

The two founding partners, Andrea Salvia and Tommaso Colella have chosen bamboo fiber for this purpose: comfortable, resistant and breathable, thus creating brightly colored socks suitable for any occasion and use. Gorilla Socks proposes itself as an actor in the fight against environmental unsustainability in the world of the textile industry by offering a natural and eco-sustainable fiber.

It collaborates also with associations of the national territory, for example the marine protection association, MaDre.

Furthermore, starting from the 2021-2022 sports season, Gorilla Socks is the official partner of the Napoli Female, a Serie A women's soccer team with which it shares the values of sport, integration and tolerance. Values that are well in common with those of safeguarding the ecosystem where we all live.

Gorilla Socks is a member of SUSTAINABLE FASHION INNOVATION SOCIETY.

Gorilla Socks® is a registered mark.

Why Bamboo?

soft

breathable

less water consumption

naturally growing

Bamboo has exceptional properties and is particularly appreciated by those who care about the environment.

It is a fast growing plant, up to one meter per day, and grows without human help. The harvest takes place approximately every years, avoiding the devastating processes of deforestation.

The cultivation of bamboo has a very low environmental impact, in fact it consumes 1/3 of the water of most crops and very often only needs rainwater with minimal carbon dioxide emissions and emitting a large amount of oxygen.

From all these characteristics derives a yarn that makes Gorilla Socks products shiny, soft, antibacterial, resistant, breathable, absorbent, protective of UV rays.

Our socks are made with more than 70% of viscose of bamboo which gives them strength and character!
